

Submission Guidelines

The Journal of the Urban Design Institute of Korea (UDIK), Urban Design, is a quarterly publication indexed in the Korean Citation Index (KCI). It serves as a leading academic and professional platform for urban design discourse in Korea and beyond.

Urban Design publishes peer-reviewed academic research articles and design research articles that address a broad spectrum of historical and contemporary place-making practices, both locally and globally. The journal's readership includes scholars, practitioners, policymakers, and engaged citizens interested in the field of urban design.

Submitted manuscripts must be original, of high academic or design quality, and not under consideration elsewhere. Each submission should include a 150–200 word abstract and should not exceed 6,000 words in total length. Manuscripts must be double-spaced throughout, including the abstract, references, and captions. Authors must follow the Harvard Style of citation and referencing. Digital images should be submitted at 300 dpi for photographs and 600 dpi for line drawings, at full reproduction size. All manuscripts should be submitted electronically in Microsoft Word format to udik@udik.or.kr.

Submissions must include a separate cover page containing the manuscript title, author name(s), institutional affiliation(s), and complete contact information (postal address, e-mail, telephone, and fax) for the corresponding author. The abstract should appear on the second page, with the main text beginning on the third. Submissions must be anonymized, containing no identifying information within the manuscript text. By submitting to Urban Design, authors agree to transfer copyright of the accepted manuscript to the journal.
